

BRAVE RESEARCH INTERNSHIP

At Māia we believe that social issues affecting young people need to be researched with and by young people. Brave Research supports young people in learning about research so they can tell their own stories through research.

Context

A recent study by the NZ Child Poverty Action Group revealed significant gaps in our knowledge about young people engaged in work. With the Brave Research Internship, our goal is to address this gap by involving working school-aged individuals as researchers of this issue.

The opportunity

- ✓ Paid 10-week research internship
- ✓ Working 10 hours per week
- ✓ Hours arranged so students can attend school
- ✓ Office is based in East Tāmaki
- ✓ Starting May 2024

Profile

- ✓ Ages 16-18
- ✓ High school students based in South Auckland
- ✓ Students who are engaged in work alongside school or have been working alongside school in the past
- ✓ Students with aspirations to continue studying
